

If I'm Being Honest

Claudia Valentina

Remember last week when I come home
Three in the mornin', drunk out my mind
I told you that I loved you
That's a lie
Remember when we first met
And I told you, you were the best I had yeah
Oh, I must admit, that's a lie

And all these precious, precious moments
I wish you my deepest, my deepest condolences

'Cause if I'm being honest
I break all my promises
And I can't ever, ever, ever, ever, ever pretend
And if I'm being honest
It's weighing on my conscience
But I'd do it all, do it all over again (Oh)
And even if I can pay the price
I'll take what I want and I'd kiss you goodbye, again (Oh)
If I'm being honest
I'm not being honest

Same, same, same old me
For speaking my truth
Would you believe
My heart's on my sleeve
Is that a crime?
I should be ashamed of myself
And the cards that I dealt
That I must concede
There's no way back
Now I've crossed the line

And all these precious, precious moments
I wish you my deepest, my deepest condolences

'Cause if I'm being honest
I break all my promises
And I can't ever, ever, ever, ever, ever pretend
And if I'm being honest
It's weighing on my conscience
But I'd do it all, do it all over again (Oh)
And even if I can pay the price
I'll take what I want and I'd kiss you goodbye, again (Oh)
If I'm being honest
I'm not being honest
