

You'll Want Me

Cliff Richard

Though you've left me are you happy?
Will you miss me now and then?
I've a feeling you'll want me
You will want me once again

You'll want me
As the days grow longer
And the memories linger of me
As lover and friend
The one you could depend on
To be always there with a smile
Tender care loving you, loving you

Though you've left me are you happy?
Will you miss me now and then?
I've a feeling you'll want me
You will want me once again

You'll want me
When you count the many ways
I give you sunny days and smile
And wish you were near
And there be a tear soft will fall
When you call to your heart far away
And you'll want me there
Just loving you, as I did before
As I did before
You will want my love

Though you've left me are you happy?
Will you miss me now and then?
I've a feeling you'll want me
You will want me once again

Though you've left me are you happy?
Will you miss me now and then?
Though you've left me are you happy?
Will you miss me now and then?
