I'll Be Gone

Clint Black

Since before I learned to walk, I've been running
And I could always see the light before the dawn
Somewhere someone won't even see me coming
And before they see me going, I'll be gone
Now you've got questions I don't care to answer
And I don't get off on leading people on
It's safe to say, I'm no second chancer
And the chances are, I don't know right from wrong
You could never change my mind and I won't change my ways
And from the start the lines have all been drawn
That I'll just leave you behind forgetting all my yesterdays
I said, before you see me going, I'll be gone
You could never change my mind and I won't change my ways
And from the start the lines have all been drawn
That I'll just leave you behind forgetting all my yesterdays
I said before you see me going, I'll be gone
