

Losing Light

CLMD

I am sitting on the rooftop, lonely in the dark
Waiting for a star to fall
I'm searching through the milky way, not a single spark
It's long ago, but I recall

One of these days life will die, we will fall, I see fear in your eyes
Time will stop, so abrupt, but we'll conquer it all
We're not losing light
We're not losing light

Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light
Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light

We are sitting in your bedroom with the curtains down
Just to pretend the sun still shines
We're dancing in the city lights, traffic speeding by
It's long ago but I recall

One of these days life will die, we will fall, I see fear in your eyes
Time will stop, so abrupt, but we'll conquer it all
We're not losing light

One of these days life will die, we will fall, I see fear in your eyes
Time will stop, so abrupt, but we'll conquer it all
We're not losing light
We're not losing light

Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light
Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light
Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light
Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light

A time when the sky was bright
The moon and the stars were shining so light
Now when it's all blacked out
I'm grabbing my flashlight, shine through the dark night

Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light
Losing light, losing light
Losing light, losing light
We're not losing light

One of these days life will die, we will fall, I see fear in your eyes

Time will stop, so abrupt, but we'll conquer it all
We're not losing light
