

Bury Me A

ClockClock

My mind is burning through my skin
Your hands are cold your voice is trembling
I knew joy that only love can bring
You and I, we're both remembering

Bury me alive but don't make me wait
You made up your mind, it's already too late
Didn't see it from the distance, something you were missing

And I just can't get it off my chest
(I keep falling down by you)
I need to rely on myself
(I keep falling down by you)
(Hey!)
I'm falling, you're flying
Turning something into nothing
I have no choice but to accept
(I keep falling down by you)

Say what's on your mind or hold your peace
Save your tears for all the ones you leave
Yeah

Bury me alive but don't make me wait
You made up your mind, it's already too late
Thought we had a vision, I heard but didn't listen

And I just can't get it off my chest
(I keep falling down by you)
I need to rely on myself
(I keep falling down by you)
(Hey!)
I'm falling (Falling), you're flying (Flying)
Turning something into nothing
I have no choice but to accept
(I keep falling down by you)