Cloud Nothings

The world I know has gone away
An outline of my own decay
The body's broke and the blood is warm
Is this the end of the life I've known?

Am I older now or am I just another age?
Am I at the end or will there be another change?
Am I older now or am I just another age?
Am I at the end or will there be another change?

It's hard to see you in this place
It's hard to be around your name
When all I know is it won't be long
Until we're ending the life we love

Am I older now or am I just another age?
Am I at the end or will there be another change?
Am I older now or am I just another age?
Am I at the end or will there be another change?

Is life too long?
Am I too late?
Do all who walk deserve their fate?
The body's broken and death has won
This is the end of the life I love
