

Touch the Rainbow

Cloven Hoof

When I look at my time,
justify this life of mine.
Nobody said it would be easy,
No one said anything at all.

I feel the darkness blacken my soul,
with uncertainty.
Whispering voices everyone has got it in for me.

I will keep trying... try!
I will aim for the stars,
there ain't no denying,
I will reach don't care how far.

The memories that I hold dear,
drive me on again.
Futility this nightmare reign,
has finally gotta end.

Touch the rainbow,
hear the thunder.
The song that never ends.
Unbelievers drag you under,
there's gold around the bend.

Don't let the bastards grind you down
Touch the rainbow.
Don't let the bastards grind you down
Touch the rainbow.

Everyone's doubting my own true beliefs,
with impunity.
Jackals shouting blacken my name,
its a certainty.

I will die fighting fight!
when all is said and done.
There ain't no denying,
I will learn to touch the sun.

No one cares,
how hard you try.
The doors are closed again,
but they won't last,
a sacred thought
the music still remains.

Touch the rainbow,
hear the thunder.
The song that never ends.
Unbelievers drag you under,
there's gold around the bend.

When all hope is gone,
we will find the strength to carry on.
When the cause seems lost,
only the brave won't fear to count the cost.

never fear!

Memories that I hold dear,
drive me on again.
Futility this nightmare reign
has finally gonna end.

Touch the rainbow,
hear the thunder.
The song that never ends.
Unbelievers drag you under,
there's gold around the bend.
