

Green Light

Cloverton

When fiction fails you
And troubles tail you
You chase your own
When all is lost and
The wheels come off and you're light years from home
It's a green light for you to find the arms of a love
They're lifting you up
It's a green light for you to find
This sea has a floor that's leading you up to the shore
Go
When evil's found you
And thieves surround you
You're not alone
When eyes are opened to light and hope then
The curtain's broken
The seed is sewn
It's a green light for you to find the arms of a love
They're lifting you up
It's a green light for you to find
This sea has a floor that leads you to shore
It's a green light to leave behind yourself
And find Him closer than we know
Go
When eyes are opened to light and hope then
It's time to go
