

Mirror

CNBLUE

I've been running every day
Like a rat on a wheel
Only looking out for myself
I forgot how to feel
Too caught up in my own world, I know
I'm making excuses
I'm living my life with eyes closed
I can't take anymore

But if I could stop and think for a minute
And open my eyes to find
Someone who's reached the end of their limit
I gotta lend a hand

Because the heart can act like a mirror
In a reflection of one another
The pieces coming together
Make the world brighter
Happiness through your mirror
Your sky will be much clearer
Reflecting brighter than the sun
Wrapping the world

Keeping sorrows to yourself
Is gonna weigh you down
I will share your burdens with you
We can find a way out

And when we can stop and think for a minute
And open our eyes to find
Someone who's reached the end of their limit
We gotta reach inside

Because the heart can act like a mirror
In a reflection of one another
The pieces coming together
Make the world brighter
Happiness through your mirror
Your sky will be much clearer
Reflecting brighter than the sun
Wrapping the world

Let's make a chain of hope
A billion hearts all in a row
Not meant to be only for me
The more that we share, we will be one

I am willing to give it all
I'm expecting nothing in return

Because the heart can act like a mirror
In a reflection of one another
The pieces coming together
Make the world brighter
Happiness through your mirror
Your sky will be much clearer
Reflecting brighter than the sun

Wrapping the world