

Seeds

CNBLUE

I know you been trying to hide away your tears
The time is approaching when you gotta make it clear
Know you pretended to laugh at all your fears but
You can't lie to yourself, wasting all the years

And when you think that you can't take it any much longer
See how it all began to make you that much stronger
Planting all your seeds

And from the times you cry the flowers grow
Guide along on the path you know
Praying on a shooting star
Lighting up all the way so far

We are finding the way
To a brighter today
Sending flowers to yourself
In the future to keep you well

Worry and sorrow will only leave you blind
Take what you borrow and leave it all behind
Time's gonna lead you and show you what you need and
When you don't expect it you wind up with a seed

And when you think that you can't take it any much longer
See how it all began to make you that much stronger
Planting all your seeds

And from the times you cry the flowers grow
Guide along on the path you know
Praying on a shooting star
Lighting up all the way so far

We are finding the way
To a brighter today
Sending flowers to yourself
In the future to keep you well

You're stuck in a dead end flow
Is it left or right well you just don't know
Take a step back, a breath, a beat, a sec, a night to think it over
Don't push yourself to get an answer
They will bloom just like a flower now

And from the times you cry the flowers grow
Guide along on the path you know
Praying on a shooting star
Lighting up all the way so far

We are finding the way
To a brighter today
Sending flowers to yourself
In the future to keep you well

And from the times you cry the flowers grow
Guide along on the path you know
Praying on a shooting star

Lighting up all the way so far

We are finding the way

To a brighter today

All this time your seeds are sown

We're headed off to the great unknown