

My Frustration

Coal Chamber

Where was I when god had shown
how to make a happy home

Lie in bed and sleep don't come have some peace then give me some and I know the reason why you hold me down
I won't let this fear of loss make me drown

In my bed I lie alone
scrape together bone to bone and I can't seem to seem to find my way I can't seem to find the break of day

I'll stay just a step away

Where was I when god had shown
how to make a happy home
and I have become my worst enemy
I will survive this instability

In my bed I lie alone
scrape together bone to bone
again I have become my worst enemy
I will survive this instability

I need to breathe the breath of life you constantly drain my life why can't you see the breath in me I constantly need your need my butterfly don't fly away

If I could just take this simple breath of life from me you couldn't take it motherfucker eternity if I could take this breath of life and come inside of me you wouldn't take it, I need to breathe

As I creep the monkey's back now she's gone and oh he's back
and I know the reason why you hold me down
I won't let this fear of loss make me drown

I will stay, I'll stay
I will stay, I'll stay