

Born To Die

Coasts

Shuffle deck, a single heart
We tried our best but we're drifting apart
We made mistakes, we opened scars
Am I too late to drive
Through the night chasing stars
Hoping that I can change your mind
With my bones aching, my body's breaking down

It's hard to see you slowly slipping from my touch
It feels like we've given up
Its calm now, so fragile
You're slowly slipping before my eyes
It feels like we didn't try
Maybe we were born to die

A thousand words couldn't paint your smile
Can we just lay here for a while
I'm holding out to see the sun
Am I too late to drive
Through the night chasing stars
Hoping that I can change your mind, oh

It's hard to see you slowly slipping from my touch
It feels like we've given up
Its calm now, so fragile
You're slowly slipping before my eyes
It feels like we didn't try
Maybe we were born to die

It's hard to see you slowly slipping from my touch
It feels like we've given up
Its calm now, so fragile
You're slowly slipping before my eyes
It feels like we didn't try
Maybe we were born to die
Maybe we were born to die