

Take Me Back Home

Coasts

Sunlight starts, starts to skate across the ceiling
We're in your room melting away
The shapes they make, they make you feel like you are dreaming
Remember when life was a game?

You said, "One night. So high. Fucked up until the morning light."
"One night. So high."

Take me back home where the sky is glittering gold
We could turn back time, let the bad blood lie
Take, take me back home

A wide-eyed boy slowly going through the motions
With all our friends we've made on the road
The temptations turn my head and crack it open
My mind's a mess, I'm out of control

You said, "One night. So high. Fucked up until the morning light."
"One night. So high."

Take me back home where the sky is glittering gold
We could turn back time, let the bad blood lie
Take, take me back home

Take me back, take me back home

Take me back home where the sky is glittering gold
We could turn back time, let the bad blood lie
Take me back home
