

Cosmopolitan Man

Cobi

I'm a Cosmopolitan
Never home and don't belong anywhere
Only Hell could feed desire
I'm searching for a reason why

I'm looking to the sky to open up
I'm in it for the ride, I won't give up
Leaning on a vine to hold me up
I see it in your eyes, the loneliness

So, love, if I'm taking too long then you need to hold on, oh
I'm a Cosmopolitan Man, wherever I am is home
So long, you've waited too long, and you tell me "don't go", oh
You won't wait, you know I can't stay
'Cause Caesar was made to roam

Be a soul or be a man
If I'm gone, I'm always there, heart in hand
I sing your song everywhere I land
I scream "fire" just to let you know

I'm looking to the sky to open up
I'm in it for the ride, I won't give up
Leaning on a vine to hold me up
I see it in your eyes, the loneliness

So, love, if I'm taking too long then you need to hold on, oh
I'm a Cosmopolitan Man, wherever I am is home
So long, you've waited too long and you tell me "don't go", oh
You won't wait, you know I can't stay
'Cause Caesar was made to roam

And when it's all done
You'll never know I was gone
Not leaving you out, I'm thinking about you on my way
I'm praying to the sun
Just think of what I'll become
Your love is a loaded gun that sent me on my way

So, love, if I'm taking too long then you need to hold on, oh
I'm a Cosmopolitan Man, wherever I am is home
So long, you've waited too long and you tell me "don't go", oh
You won't wait, you know I can't stay
'Cause Caesar was made to roam
