

The Easy Way

Code Orange Kids

Deep down the most desired road
They see a golden son
You're not the only one
Dig out the soul but they see it the same
The quicker digestion
The easier way

Don't wanna know who you really are
Don't wanna know what you want
What you're begging for
The pheromones eating through your blood
Break down, break down

Imitation of imitation
Your reflection's just an animation of (Rite of)
Passage forgotten, now just labeled insane
The door's been kicked open
And they'll sloth through the frame
Open your eyes two needles wide
In the double speed age, the truth is easy to hide
Just along for the broken ride
They've bought it, absorbed it, it's inside their DNA
(Nowhere to run)

Don't wanna know who you really are
Don't wanna know what you want
What you're begging for
The pheromones eating through your blood
Break down, break down
Don't wanna know who you really are
Don't wanna know what you want
What you're begging for
The pheromones eating through your blood
Break down, break down, break

An imitation of my imagination
Of grinding through the dentin
A broken record in the basement
The old toy you used to play with
You lied, I've tried to forgive
But it wants both of us now

Don't wanna know who you really are
Don't wanna know what you want
What you're begging for
The pheromones eating through your blood
Break down, break down
Don't wanna know who you really are
Break down, break down, break
