

Always Running

Cody Jinks

I haven't read your letters for a while
So I woke up and read through some this morning
I haven't called, that's just my style
The need for you, it hits without warning

I know it's me to blame
You reach out, and I just pulled away
You know that I won't stay
You just let me go
I run back to you to find my way

Always running back to you
When I leave, I'm on my feet
Coming back, I'm crawling on my knees
Always running back to you
I can't stay gone for too long
I think I can, but I'm not that strong

A couple turns I took were wrong
Running hard to get back home, but it's so stormy
All I have for you is this song
I'll make it right with you Sunday morning

Dry soul, in need of rain
You take me and lead me through the pain
And you know that I won't stay
You just let me go on, knowing I'll be back to find my way

Always running back to you
When I leave, I'm on my feet
Coming back, I'm crawling on my knees
Always running back to you
I can't stay gone for too long
I think I can, but I'm not that strong

If I can make it from here to there
All I've got's this prayer
All I've got's this prayer

Always running back to you
When I leave, I'm on my feet
Coming back, I'm crawling on my knees
Always running back to you
I can't stay gone for too long
I think I can

Always running back to you
When I leave, I'm on my feet
Coming back, I'm crawling on my knees
Always running back to you
I can't stay gone for too long
I think I can, but I'm not that strong

Always running back to you
I'm always running
I'm always running
