

Last Call for the Blues

Cody Jinks

You're good for nothing, it's what they always say
I can't say no different, look at me today
Always in and out of trouble, an enemy of the state
Why I can't I get my act together, dollar short, a day late

And they say why you don't quit drinkin'
You're always acting like a clown
We all see your ships been sinkin'
Just slowly goin' down
You've been runnin' for so long
You ain't got no time to lose
You better right in all your wrongs
Last call for the blues

Yeah the first step, it's admitting, then it's one day at a time
Don't you dare deny it, you're way past your prime
You better start to look ahead, what's done is dead and gone
There ain't no wisdom in that whiskey, there's only sadness in your song

And they say why you don't quit drinkin'
You're always acting like a clown
We all see your ships been sinkin'
Just slowly goin' down
You've been runnin' for so long
You ain't got no time to lose
You better right in all your wrongs
Last call for the blues

And they say why you don't quit drinkin'
You're always acting like a clown
We all see your ships been sinkin'
Just slowly goin' down
You've been runnin' for so long
You ain't got no time to lose
You better right in all your wrongs
Last call for the blues

You better right in all your wrongs
Last call for the blues