

Ain't So Bad

Colby Acuff

If I had the money, oh, I'd buy me a chance
But I feel burned out just like a bridge from my past
But in time, I'll know just how to grow, so don't run out of hope
Yeah, the sun still shines on every lonely road

But I hear yesterday singing me good morning
Wildflowers smell like spring is coming back
Yeah, well, life ain't always pretty, but ya play the hand ya have
When you close your eyes, it ain't so bad

Well, I've been underfed under an overpass
And I've been overworked in every state job this town has
I went looking for myself, and what I found wasn't enough
Not every diamond makes it through the rough

But I hear yesterday singing me good morning
Wildflowers smell like spring is coming back
Yeah, well, life ain't always pretty, but ya play the hand ya have
When you close your eyes, it ain't so bad

Well, it ain't a magic word, it's not a rabbit in a hat
All I got's what everybody has

But I hear yesterday singing me good morning
Wildflowers smell like spring is coming back
Yeah, well, life ain't always pretty, but ya play the hand ya have
When you close your eyes, it ain't so bad
When you close your eyes, it ain't so bad
When you close your eyes, it ain't so bad
