

All I Got

Colby Acuff

I'm a Northern man in rebel land
I've been blessed with a damn good honky-tonk band
And I'll be coming to a city near you soon
You know it just occurred to me, I'll be hanging my hat in Tennessee
And this Idaho boy is all out of aces up his sleeve

And I'm just trying to understand
How a guy like me even has a chance
So, I'll trust my gut and stay true to who I am
I'm just trying to hold onto nothing while it means something
You might say it don't add up to a lot
But it's all I got

I've been known to spend some time on a cranberry bog where the ducks like to hide
And the mountain side is where I clear my mind
Big Sky is God's country and that is something I believe
And I suppose I'll be that way until the day that I die

I'm just trying to understand
How a guy like me even has a chance
So, I'll trust my gut and stay true to who I am
I'm just trying to hold onto nothing while it means something
You might say it don't add up to a lot
But it's all I got

I'm just trying to understand
How a guy like me even has a chance
So, I'll trust my gut and stay true to who I am
I'm just trying to hold onto nothing while it means something
You might say it don't add up to a lot
But it's all I got

I'm just trying to understand
How a guy like me even has a chance
So, I'll just try to understand how a guy like me even has a chance