

Hello Rain

Colby Acuff

Hello rain, it's funny that you found me here today
The same spot where we met last May
But you're all that remains, hello rain

Goodbye sun, enjoyed the time we had but now it's done
Can't say the word on the tip of my tongue
Carries the weight of a loaded gun, goodbye sun

Hello rain, nice to see you, where you going, how you been
Got a lot of catching up to do today
So, no offense when I say that when you come around everything
turns grey
You're the only friend I have, hello rain

I hear the wind
Sweepin' up comin' around the bend
Blows through my bones every now and then Bringing clouds that carry rain, hello wind

Hello rain, nice to see you, where you going, how you been
Got a lot of catching up to do today
So, no offense when I say that when you come around everything
turns grey
You're the only friend I have, hello rain

Hello moon
I'm living on the dark side, maybe soon
I'll cross the line that binds the light to you
Midnight rain keeps me awake, hello moon

Hello rain, nice to see you, where you going, how you been
Got a lot of catching up to do today
So, no offense when I say that when you come around everything
turns grey
You're the only friend I have, hello rain
