

Same Old Skies

Cold Driven

There's a strong breeze as you leave
This world in which you breathed
Spent too much of life thinking
About the roads that grow winding
But I question what it's like
Seeing yourself through other's eyes

I've seen the world before me
Lost in all these "If onlys"
But the only constant in our lives
Is the same old skies

Somehow those days went completely wrong
Was handed this debt the day you were born
Just ride this luck out and see how long
It burns yeah

I've seen the world before me
Lost in all these "If onlys"
But the only constant in our lives
Is the same old skies

We're all just waiting and these skies keep stealing
The lives we're leading, burn candles burn
If it's life you hated, to be with you, I'd trade it
So, burn candles burn, you're not forgotten

I've seen the world before me
Lost in all these "If onlys"
But the only constant in our lives
Is the same old skies