

Slipping Away

Cold Driven

There's a battle within and you're suffering
The clock keeps winding and in time you're finding That it's all on the line and it's slipping away

It's all on the line and it's slipping away
Are you living to die? Are you just a slave?
One foot on the line and one in the grave
Stand up for yourself and it's time to change

Holding, pulling back the triggers, there's no escaping
Memories are weapons, build them all around you, and watch them
burn
The ones we trust are all to blame, revenge is obvious
The feud ignites from years of pain, another day slips away

The battle you're in leaves you questioning
The one you're fighting, it's yourself you're finding
It's all in your mind and it's slipping away

Holding, pulling back the triggers, there's no escaping
Memories are weapons, build them all around you, and watch them
burn
The ones we trust are all to blame, revenge is obvious
The feud ignites from years of pain, another day slips away

I build things and I build them to watch them burn

The ones we trust are all to blame, revenge is obvious
The feud ignites from years of pain, another day slips away

The ones we trust are all to blame, revenge is obvious
It's obvious revenge is...