

Feel Too Much

Cold War Kids

A walk in the park, a beautiful day
I'm already planning my escape
I should volunteer, but who could I help?
I can barely take care of myself

Rather lay in bed, pretend there's something more
When I wake up we will be just like before
(Yeah!)

Why do I think so much about what might've been?
I'll ruin everything, to get you back again
I wanna feel too much, I'm letting go of us
That's when I fall in love
That's when I fall in love

I live in a movie, practicing lines
A brain in a jar behind my eyes
I must have seen vermin seventeen times
What makes you uptight helps me unwind

I can't play the hero and the villain, too
I don't want to have to prove myself to you
So why do I feel?

Why do I think so much about what might've been?
I'll ruin everything, to get you back again
I wanna feel too much, I'm letting go of us
That's when I fall in love
That's when I fall in love

There's no reason to care
What's the point if you try?
But whatever, hurts to hear my side
In my dreams I can fly
And the pain is the best
Be the battle
Into certain death

And I wake up, forget about it
Sit around, breath in time, write about it
Analyze it, turn it up and start again
I keep on fighting you again
Don't wanna do it there, do it there

Why do I think so much about what might've been?
There is no matter, babe
We can't go back again
I wanna feel too much, I'm letting go of us
That's when I fall in love
That's when I fall in love

Why do I need your touch?
I wanna feel too much
Why do I need your touch?
I wanna feel too much
