

2020

coldrain

One week in it was easy to pretend
This is just a phase we'll forget it in the end
No big deal we can bite the bullet
Stay in for a change, slow down for a second

One month in the whole world went silent
Some optimistic but most at panic
It's easy to be distant but not so quiet
Theory after theory, everyday a new topic

One more month things went darker fast
The divide more present than it was in the past
The real question I just need to ask
Where we always living, living with a mask

All this time
All this time

Is it who we were or is it who we are
Have we fallen short or have we gone too far
Is it what we do or is it what we've done
Are we at the end or have we just begun to live

Just open your eyes and see it
Just open your mind and listen
I know we were made imperfect
But it still feels like somethings missing
No matter what they say
Reality won't change

We are the same, we've been the same

All this time
All this time

Have we fallen short or have we gone too far
Is it what we do or is it what we've done
Are we at the end or have we just begun to live
Dying to breathe again, we live
Dying inside just to be free again
(Just to be free again)

Is it who we were, is it who we are
Have we falling short, have we gone too far
Is it what we do or is it what we've done
Are we at the end or have we just begun

Have we fallen short or have we gone too far
Is it what we do or is it what we've done
Are we at the end or have we just begun to live
Dying to breathe again, we live
Dying inside just to be free again
