Of All The Things To Throw Away

Colin James

Another day passes and you don't call Getting to know every crack in the wall If there's a good reason for this It's a secret you're keeping

Can't make a move and I don't know why As if I don't have the reason to try But the sun keeps coming around Without me sleeping

You're going away now baby With nothing to say And nothing makes sense to me lately Of all the things to throw away

It's like cleaning up the streets after the fireworks All of this beauty's turned to dust and to dirt No relief from the light of dawn When it takes over

I'm hoping you feel something missing That you had yesterday I'm wondering what you were thinking And I'm wondering now Of all the things to throw away Of all the things to throw away

You're gone away from me All I've got to say I'm hoping you come to your senses All the things to throw away All the things to throw away

Don't you think it's fair to say Lot of things to throw away Throw it away

I'm throwing away
I'm drivin' crazy
All the things to throw away
