

Open Road

Colin James

Long, slow summer night
Walking down a back road with no flashlight
Nightbirds singing their tune
Under the soft blue light of the moon
Time rolls like a wheel
Over things I knew but forgot to feel
And as I walk the light reveals
Some scars are never gonna heal

Another day, a story told
Every life is an open road

Let the warm wind calm down your mind
It's gonna be alright in time
You can't unsay what's already been said
Got no control over what lies ahead
On my way, I'm gonna be
Underneath the blue sky where you can find me
When the sun goes down and leaves me hollow
I got you and the stars to follow

Another day, a story told
Every life is an open road
We live and let the miles unfold
Every life is an open road

Another day a story told
Every life is an open road
We live and let the miles unfold
Every life is an open road
