Colony House

Love, she don't love me
They don't see me
Sorrow's taking it's toll

Why does the heartache
Come so easy
Seems it never let's go of me

Time and time again I fight the notion
Looking for an answer looking for a sign

Open your eyes don't let it go by
Cause on and on the world keeps spinning circles
Open your eyes don't wait for a sign
A broken heart can paint the world in color

Instead of letting walls define the line
Build a bridge into the future

Change, change is coming
And I'm still running
With my hands over my eyes

Cause I'm afraid that if I try to tell the story
The words will make no difference
They'll just be lost in time

Open your eyes don't let it go by
Cause on and on the world keeps spinning circles
Open your eyes don't wait for a sign
A broken heart can paint the world in color

Instead of letting walls define the line
Build a bridge into the future
Build a bridge into the future

Open your eyes the world is alive
Open up your eyes
Open your eyes don't wait for a sign
A broken heart can paint the world in color
Instead of letting walls define the notion
Don't be afraid to leap across the line
And dance into the future
