

Forgotten

Communic

There have been times I have been mad
There have been times I have made you cry
There have been times I have done you harm
Those times may never be forgotten

There have been times I have been kind
There have been times I have held you tight
There have been times I've made you laugh
All those times are long forgotten
There have been times I've made you laugh
All those times are long forgotten

There have been days where we have fought
There have been days I have slammed the door
There have been days I never came home
Days that never will be forgotten

There have been days where we have loved
There have been days we just spent in bed
There have been days filled with hope
All those days are long gone and forgotten
There have been days filled with hope
All those days are long gone and forgotten

There have been years filled with grief
There have been years with no trace of hope in sight
There have been years so full of hate
Years that will never be forgotten

There have been years filled with joy
There have been years we have explored the world
There have been years filled with laughter and cheers
All those years are long gone, gone and forgotten
There have been years filled with laughter and cheers
All those years are long gone and forgotten...
...forgotten

There have been nights obsessed and dark
There have been nights
I've heard you cry yourselves to sleep
There have been nights darker than black
Nights that never will be forgotten
...forgotten

There have been nights I've been afraid
There have been night I have walked astray
There have been nights I didn't want to live no more
Nights that everyone I know have forgotten

There have been nights
I didn't want to live no more

I have said words to hurt and cause pain
I have said words to make you feel guilt and shame
I have said some really bad things to you
Words that never will be forgotten

I have told you that I love you
I have gone through Hell for you
I would give my own life for you
All I have done is now forgotten
I would give my own life for you
All I have done is now forgotten

All I have done is now forgotten

There have been nights obsessed and dark
There have been nights
I've heard you cry yourselves to sleep
There have been nights darker than black
Nights that never will be forgotten
...forgotten

There have been nights I've been afraid
There have been night I have walked astray
There have been nights I didn't want to live no more
Nights that everyone I know have forgotten
I am soon forgotten...

There have been nights
I didn't want to live no more

I am soon to be...