Company Of Thieves

Days and days and dollar bags of time, feel the everlasting tid

Rows of houses, all are painted white I lost you in the dead of night

Your love syrup, so sweet, I feel dangerous indeed Your love syrup, so sweet

I held you in a deep blanket of sound, no one here to find us out

Never thought that you would come around

Close and clean, a hit on the mouth

Right now in a morning light, I would let you have me until you find

In bed, just like you, I let the dark into the room

Your love syrup, so sweet, I feel dangerous indeed Your love syrup, so sweet

I know I made a mistake because I missed you
On the way down, on the way down
I know I made a mistake because I missed you
On the way down, on the way down
I know I made a mistake because I missed you
I still do, I still do
I know I made a mistake because I missed you
On the way down on the way down
Your love syrup, so sweet, I feel dangerous indeed
Your love syrup, so sweet
And it's so sweet, Ah ha and it's so sweet

But it's a damn shame!

It's a damn shame

It's a damn shame we couldn't be...
