

Waywardly Broken

Conception

Pride dying
Please don't walk away
Let not my heart be lead astray
Always so gritty

Waywardly broken
From all the foul seeds I've sown
Yet born with this urge to remain
However fearful and inconclusive
The world needs a shot of love
Directly to the heart
Cause night grows darker day by day

Vividly spoken
From fall from grace to white throne
Now that the hour is late
It's so revealing, see it feel it
Where do you point your prayers
Robbed of your beliefs
When night grows darker day by day

There is truth in every moment
From these we build our palisades
The truth is able to restore
You know I'm trying, defying the known

Conquer divide
This is a war in reverse
That someone else
Victoriously fought out

Waywardly broken
From all the foul seeds I've sown
Yet born with this urge to remain
So I'll be here, I'm bound to stay

See all these moments
Make a lifetime
And every moment is a war
Knowingly falling in the nothing
And the void would never end

But there is truth in every moment
And truth is able to restore
Even the core of what is broken
You know I'm trying, defying the known