Caroline

Concrete Blonde

I hear you're driving Someone else's car now She said you came and Took your stuff away All the poetry, and the trunk You kept your life in I knew that it would Come to that someday Like a sad hallucination, When I opened up my eyes, The train had passed the station, And you were trapped inside Yet I never wonder where you went, I only wonder why, I wonder why Oh Caroline Oh, whoa-oh Caroline Oh, oh Caroline Whoa whoa whoa, Caroline Well I hear you're using someone else's number; She said she saw you in the store today. It doesn't matter whose address You're listed under, I only know they'll never make you stay. Like a memory in motion, You were only passing through That is all you've ever known of life, That's all you'll ever do. There's a dream I have where I sail away; Looking back I wave at you, And I wave goodbye Oh Caroline Oh, oh whoa oh, Caroline Oh, oh Caroline Oh In another life I see you As an angel flying high, And the hands of time will free you You will cast your chains aside And the dawn will come and kiss away Every tear that's ever fallen From your eyes Behind those eyes, I wonder Oh, Caroline oh, oh, oh Oh, oh, Caroline Sometimes I wonder Oh, Caroline Sometimes I, Sometimes I wonder
