Pretty Rough

The Connells

Got my feet up in a car I'm not going where you are It's my sanity or bust And it never really was everything I wanted Everything I needed Everything Complete. Everything you've ever heard And there's not a single word to put your mind at rest And yes I never guessed everything you wanted Everything you needed Everything. Complete. I only hear what I want to, want to, I want to And I just follow my feet, and I stumble on. Everything you wanted Everything you needed Everything. Complete. I'm almost giving it away I'm almost near I'm almost half-way home I might be home
