Living Without You (is Too Much To Live With)

Connie Smith

Before you left I set myself some crying time aside
I knew that getting over you would take my heart some time
But love won't fade or slip away to please my foolish pride
Because my heart overrules my mind
Living without you is too much to live with too many memories t oo many tears
Living without you is too much to live with too much to carry t oo much to bear

Living without you
Living without you is too much to bear
