

I'm Not Wrong

Connie Talbot

I'll tell you a secret I want you to keep Something's going so wrong, hidden underneath
The show we put on when the curtain's not drawn

We could pick up the pieces of the mess we made
But no matter how clean, the stain won't go away
It's written in the stars, we can't change what we are

Tell me I'm stupid
Tell me I'm blind
If I can't see through this
See what's behind
Got nothing to lose 'cause
There is nothing left inside

Every ocean
All of the land
Every emotion, strength of every man
Can't fix what's been broken
God knows nothing could save us now

Keep saying the words you think I wanna hear
But every breath just seems to disappear
They don't mean a thing 'cause they're written by me

It's like I wrote you some lines for you to read out
But you don't have a clue what they are all about
They don't mean a thing cause they're written by me

Tell me I'm stupid
Tell me I'm blind
If I can't see through this
See what's behind
Got nothing to lose 'cause

Every ocean
All of the land
Every emotion, strength of every man
Can't fix what's been broken
God knows nothing could save us now

Every ocean
All of the land
Every emotion, strength of every man
Can't fix what's been broken
God knows nothing could save us now

You say that I'm overthinking
But know I don't need any more convincing
That it's not the same love as the beginning
You know I'm not wrong

You say that I'm overthinking
But know I don't need any more convincing
That it's not the same love as the beginning
You know I'm not wrong

So tell me I'm stupid
Tell me I'm blind
If I can't see through this
See what's behind
Got nothing to prove 'cause

Every ocean
All of the land
Every emotion, strength of every man
Can't fix what's been broken
God knows nothing could save us now

God knows nothing could save us now
Oh, nothing could save us now

You say that I'm overthinking
But know I don't need any more convincing
That it's not the same love as the beginning
You know I'm not wrong

You know I'm not wrong
