

There Was A Grace

Consumed By Fire

If I could tell the story of my life
It would be filled how's and why's
There were struggles, pain, and strife
I never should've made it
Should've been dead a thousand times

How'd You get beauty from the ashes?
How'd You turn water into wine?
And how did chains turn into freedom?
Well if you'll let me testify

There was a grace
That carried me through
Through all my darkest nights
It said, the sun is gonna shine again
There was a grace
That helped me keep standing
It gave me the will to fight
It kept my hope alive
When there seemed to be no way
There was a grace

Have you been trying to just survive?
Tomorrow's feeling out of sight
When every day feels like a fight
Fear says you'll never make it
Don't you dare believe the lies

Cause He'll make beauty from the ashes
He still turns water into wine
He'll turn your sorrow into freedom
Give you a miracle like mine

There was a grace
That carried me through
Through all my darkest nights
It said, the sun is gonna shine again
There was a grace
That helped me keep standing
It gave me the will to fight
It kept my hope alive
When there seemed to be no way
There was a grace

When I take my first breath in heaven
And I look upon His face
There's no wonderin' how I got here
So the only thing I'll say

There was a grace
That carried me through
Through all my darkest nights
It said, the sun is gonna shine again
There was a grace
That helped me keep standing
It gave me the will to fight
It kept my hope alive

There was a grace
That carried me through
Through all my darkest nights
It said, the sun is gonna shine again
There was a grace
That helped me keep standing
It gave me the will to fight
It kept my hope alive
When there seemed to be no way
There was a grace
When there seemed to be no way
There was a grace
