

What If

Consumed By Fire

I wanna run
But what if I fall?
I wanna climb
But what if the wall is just too tall?
Higher than my faith could ever reach

I wanna trust, but, God, I'm afraid
Open my heart, but what if it breaks?
It's hard to believe
I'll ever be more than I'll ever be

What if I give up right before
He parts the sea

But what if the door swings open
To all I've been hoping and praying for
And what if my season of waiting
Was changing and leading to something more, more
What if jumping leads to flying
And fear didn't stop me from trying
What if God's just waiting for me to start seeing How big He is
What if?

What if He hears all of your prayers?
You cry out to Jesus to find that He's there
Cause He still cares for the broken and the prodigal
So don't give up on this side of your miracle

Cause what if the door swings open
To all you've been hoping and praying for
And what if your season of waiting
Was changing and leading to something more, more
What if jumping leads to flying
And fear didn't stop you from trying
What if God's just waiting for you to start seeing
How big He is
What if?

What if your doubts and fears
Were the only chains that are holding you?
What if the prayer of faith
Is all it takes for the breakthrough?
Don't get stuck by what you see
What has been or what it is
Don't be scared by your past to ask what if?

Cause what if the door swings open
To all you've been hoping and praying for
And what if your season of waiting
Was changing and leading to something more, more
What if jumping leads to flying
And fear didn't stop you from trying
What if God's just waiting for you to start seeing
How big He is
What if?

What if the waiting was leading to more?
What if you ran through that open door?
What if on the other side is your miracle?
What if, what if, what if?

What if the waiting was leading to more?
What if you ran through that open door?
What if on the other side is your miracle?
What if, what if, what if?
