

Two Timin' Two Stepper

Conway Twitty

He tells his wife he's going back to work
To finish something he's left undone
And like a fool she believes every word
The door slams and he's on the run
To that other side of town
Where the music's turned up
And the lights are turned down.

He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand
Sliding on the dance floor
Slippin' off his wedding band
He'll waltz into the heart
Of every pretty girl he can
Ooo, He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand.

Everybody in town knows his name
They know his wife and they know his game
But he continues to play it just the same
'Cause he's a fool and he has no shame
But he always seems to find
Somebody new to believe his lines.

He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand
Sliding on the dance floor
Slippin' off his wedding band
He'll waltz into the heart
Of every pretty girl he can
Ooo, He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand.

He'll keep dancin' and foolin' around
Till the walls around him come a-tumblin' down.

He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand
Sliding on the dance floor
Slippin' off his wedding band
He'll waltz into the heart
Of every pretty girl he can
Ooo, He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand.

He's a two timin' two stepper
Looking for a one-night stand...
