

Now Or Never

Corey Kent

Your headlights might as well be taillights
And your hellos might as well be goodbyes
'Cause your sunsets never turn to sunrise
Been down this road way too many times

Promises in the sheets, ones that you never keep Maybes and somedays are starting to get to me

You say you want me when you need me, but you're still on the fence
If I'm the only one that's seeing you and me in the end
Baby, break my heart and get it over with
Love me now, love me now, or never again
Or never again

No more calling when you're drinking
No more loving me and leaving
No more telling me that I'm yours
Telling me you're not sure
Showing up drunk at my front door

You say you want me when you need me, but you're still on the fence
If I'm the only one that's seeing you and me in the end
Baby, break my heart and get it over with
Love me now, love me now, or never again
Love me now, or never again

Love me more than tonight
Don't make me wake up alone
Girl, love me over the edge
Ooh baby, just let me go
Can't make you make up your mind
This is our fork in the road
You either love me or you don't

You say you want me when you need me, but you're still on the fence
If I'm the only one that's seeing you and me in the end
Baby, break my heart and get this over with
Love me now, love me now, or never again

Love me now, love me now, love me now, or
Or never again
Love me now, love me now, or never again
Yeah, baby, break my heart and get it over with
Love me now, love me now, or never again
Love me, or never again
Ooh, never again
