It's Over

Corey Smith

I've been beaten, I've been abused
I've been cheated, and I've been used
They said that I'm no good
Hearts stone cold, black and blue
Reminders of the shit they put me through Lord, its getting old

Its time to show myself the door
There's no pretending anymore
No, it's over

Where I'm going I don't know
Somewhere down this dusty road
North on 441
Pass the rolling cattle fields the trailer parks, and rusted cotton mills
Lord get me out of here

I've made up my mind
Not giving in this time
No it's over

Heart break runaway
I'm on a fast track toward the interstate
I'm leaving this place without a minute to waste
No looking over my shoulder
It's over

Been in prison locked and chained
Bible beat into my brain
Said you gotta trust and obey
But I'm busted loose I'm on the run
And I'm screamin at the top of my lungs
Thank God I'm free at last

Feel like I've been reborn
There's no pretending anymore
No

Daddy's been drinking beer
Every night for 20 years
And mama just sits there on the couch poppin' pills to drowned her tears
And they keep doggin me,
You're not worth a damn and you're just gonna be another failure
And a jailbird like everyone in the family
So I hang out in the parking lot; I get stoned with my 2 friends Cause they're the ones who understand the situation that I'm in
They feel my pain and man I'm gonna miss em when I'm gone
But I'm moving on, If I don't I'll be dead by 21
I'll shoot myself in the head before I wind up like my dad
Working a job I hate and taking out my anger on a kid
I can hear my mama crying as I cross that county line
Cause she knows I'm not comin back I'm leaving all this shit behind
I told her I'm a soldier I'm wiser, and I'm older
I got my education now I'm out of here it's over

And I'm Heart break runaway

I'm on the fast track toward the interstate
I'm leaving this place without a minute to waste
No looking over my shoulder
It's over

No goodbyes, now I'm gone
It's all over
It's over
No goodbyes, now I'm gone
It's all over
It's over
No goodbyes, now I'm gone
It's all over
It's over
