

Cross

Corroded

All mistakes, the wrongdoings
They have never ever been this clear
All the pain and the misery
Every word that was said out of fear
Every thorn in the side
The suffering we had to endure
It never stops, it is not easy
There will never ever be a cure

Every breath that we take
Is a waste of the air we possess
All the shit, that we give
Only shows that we will feed this mess
All our sanity; long since gone
Only looking for someone to blame
This time I swear it won't be me
I'm not the only one to carry this shame

I won't be nailed upon your cross
I will not take the blame for you
This time you own your own mistakes
This time you will have to fall
I won't be nailed upon your cross
I will not take the pain for you
It's time you own your own mistakes
It's time for you to fall

All the agony I had to carry
It will from no on fall down onto you
All the weight from your sins
But I really hope you'll carry this trough
I was the one, now your it
The burden is yours to bestow
This is your pain and your misery
This is all that you ever will owe

I won't be nailed upon your cross
I will not take the blame for you
This time you own your own mistakes
This time you will have to fall
I won't be nailed upon your cross
I will not take the pain for you
It's time you own your own mistakes
It's time for you to fall

I won't be nailed upon your cross
I will not take the blame for you
This time you own your own mistakes
This time you will have to fall
I won't be nailed upon your cross
I will not take the pain for you
It's time you own your own mistakes
It's time for you to fall