

American Dream

Cory Branan

There was a girl
There was a shoreline
Was an american dream
Hear her laughing
Really feels like
An american dream
There was a t.v. turned down
Still i heard a scream
And i woke up
From my american dream
How long have i been sleeping?
How long til i rest in your arms again?
There was a white rose
And she shone there
In an american dream
Through the rocket red glare
Of an american dream
Through the shut blind
The sunshine, in a broken beam
Woke me up
From my american dream
How long have i been sleeping?
How long til i rest in your arms again?
I still look for the girl
Along the shoreline
Of an american dream
The wind on her dress
Waving the bright flag
Of an american dream
