

Wendy

Cosmo Pyke

I'm trying to cope
Well as I slope away
I'm referring to Wendy coat
Hope she finally shows us how to wear that
Raincoat from the northface down to the South of coast
She's already defined the problem
I don't want to see through you
I won't forgive myself if I do
I never bothered to ask about you
Now I think about it I don't even know who it is I'm talking to

Well like I said
My head has gone from red to blue
In a swamp, all along
Well at least we had a home (Oh no)

She stole my soul
For a while
I said you know
They don't know why
She stole my soul
For a while

So you think you can move the gold post
Nobody's watching it now so I'll tell you the most Someone stolen from the ghost of a gold
When I'm also close to the edge
Came from over here to over there
I didn't even fall apart
Started and stopped, you remember last night I was about to

Well like I said
My head as gone from red to blue
In a swamp, all along
Well at least we had, I said, at least we had a home

Why, she stole my soul
For a while
Why, she stole my soul
For a while

Now Wendy need a paper that's how I wanna be
The only Wendy I know showed me the way to go
Still coping, steady smoking
Open up the door saw the cold blow blowing
And you smoke all see pal'
From the northface down to the South coast
She's ready to not have the cold in her
I don't want to see through you
I don't want to forgive myself if I do

Well like I said
My head has gone from red to blue
In a swamp, all along
Well at least we had, I said, at least we had a home

Didn't know why, she stole my soul

For a while
Didn't know why, didn't know why, she stole my soul
Didn't care, yeah
Didn't know why, she stole my soul
Didn't know why, she stole my soul

I was bound to break free
Bound to break free, yeah
Bound to break free
Bound to break free
I was bound to break free, yeah
Bound to break free, yeah
Bound to break free
Bound to break free
I was bound to break free
