

Two Kinds

Cosmo's Midnight

I cannot read your mind
What you're thinking half the time
Our love is on the line
But it's too high I cannot reach it
I see you've come untied
Scared of what I'll find
And then I realise
That we're two different kinds

There's an ocean in between us
A couple islands ships can't reach us
I could dive in, to the deep end
Try to save you now I'm sinking to

The darkest part of you
The darkest part of you

Been feeling like a stranger
Even in my own skin
But I'm starting to see now
Just where I'm at not where we've been
I know I can't change the waves
And you can't change the wind
Ooh I find it comforting
That we're two different kinds
I'm diving to

The darkest part of you
The darkest part of you

To
To

I try to find my way
I'm reaching for your shore
Your tide is pulling me
I'm reaching for your shore
I'm reaching for your shore