

Scream

Count Raven

Mother nature has crossed the line
Finally caught up with the signs of time
Daddy must we burn my son asked me today
Feelings of panic, I start to pray

I scream, tell me it's not so
I dream, let this nightmare go

In these very last of days
I do confess, I am (not) afraid
It seems that we woke up much too late
Being too busy and lived in hate

I scream, this is the price you have to pay
I scream, you bastards better pray

I read the Earth will cease to feed us in 10 years time
I beg of you to listen before I lose my mind
We are now living in the seven seals
God was right all along despite of our beliefs
As I walk in the valley of life and death
People of the world facing a bottomless pit
I see a ghostly shadow preparing the journey
This was the last time that we ever met

This was foretold 6.000 years ago.
The prophets warned us, I know, I know
My tears are falling cos life it never was Doomsday is calling and for all of us

I scream, tomorrow please come fast
I scream, don't know how long I'll last
