Winter Comes

Covenant

So the winter comes where we belong I feel the cold within my heart I see the night deep in your eyes The winter comes at last

Here the winter comes again Here the winter comes again Here the winter comes again Here the winter comes again

So the winter comes where we grow strong I hear your words melt like snow (On my skin) I taste your kiss, it tastes like snow The winter comes to last

My tongue is frozen to the ground I cry alone for times to come It beats the daylight out of me The winter comes to seize the day The winter comes to seize the day

Here the winter comes again Here the winter comes again Here the winter comes again Here the winter comes again

Again Again
