

Sadder Day

Craig Campbell

Sun came up, birds were singing
Sky was baby blue
Light autumn breeze, color turning on the trees
The perfect afternoon

At least that's what I thought
'Til I watched you driving off

There won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday
Caught me by surprise the way you said goodbye
Couldn't wait to make your getaway
It don't matter how much time goes by
This kinda hurt ain't ever heard of time
No, there won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday

The Bulldogs were on, playing at home
We were down by eight
Beer good and cold, chili on the stove
Our weekend happy place

Wherever we went wrong
Would make a damn good country song

There won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday
Caught me by surprise the way you said goodbye
Couldn't wait to make your getaway
It don't matter how much time goes by
This kinda hurt ain't ever heard of time
No, there won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday

Never thought I'd find my name
In the heartbreak hall of fame

There won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday
Caught me by surprise the way you said goodbye
Couldn't wait to make your getaway
It don't matter how much time goes by
This kind of hurt ain't ever heard of time
There won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday
No, there won't ever be a sadder day
Than that Saturday
