

All This Time Running

Craig Cardiff

Can a song start out with a question?
Like if the head's a lamp, is the heart a compass?
Does the soul swallow? do the ghosts spit
Down from heaven where the angels live?
The whole time that i've been running
Was never away from, was
Always coming back to, back to you
Who sees the soul? does it have hands and fingers
And does the soul stretch? crack under the weight of
All the missed lines, wonderings hesitations
All i know is that i'm done with waiting
I needed you to know how
There was never any doubt (how if)

The head's a lamp the heart's a compass
The whole time that i've been running
Was never away from, was
Always coming back to, back to you
Glory and wonder awe fills the head
Is it loving or fighting is this all there is?
All the missed lines, wonderings hesitations
All i know is that i'm done with waiting
I needed you to know how
There was never any doubt (how if)
The head's a lamp the heart's a compass
The whole time that i've been running
Was never away from, was
Always coming back to, back to you