

So Special

Craig David

Something about you looking so special
Something about you looking so special
Something about you looking so special
Guess I'm caught up in the thrill of it
Maybe just a little bit
Something about you looking so special

I was chilling in Miami in my condo
Chatting on the phone, little convo
Said you were just getting ready for my arrival
So, so, so, so special
You said them other guys always made you cry, no
Always having a pretend that you were fine, though
But with me, I'm only here to make you smile
That's so, so, so, so

Good times, good times
That's something money couldn't buy
No tears, don't cry
Everything'll be alright
Quit trying to be liked
Turns out that, that's a waste of time
No doubt in my mind

Something about you looking so special
Something about you looking so special
Look at you now
Something about you looking so special
Guess I'm caught up in the thrill of it
Maybe just a little bit
Something about you looking so special

I was sitting outside in the Benzo
I could see her smile from the window
I thought she was fire from the get go
So, so, so, so special
The way she came down in her dress though
Cinnamon brown, oriental
Still I gotta feel her vibe, it's essential
So, so, so, so special

Good times, good times
That's something money couldn't buy
No tears, don't cry
Everything'll be alright
Quit trying to be liked
Turns out that, that's a waste of time
No doubt in my mind

Something about you looking so special
Something about you looking so special
Look at you now
Something about you looking so special
Guess I'm caught up in the thrill of it
Maybe just a little bit
Something about you looking so special

Something about you looking so special
Guess I'm caught up in the thrill of it
Maybe just a little bit
