Craig's Brother

Maybe your view of quality is more than you can be You bear your ideology so stoically That all that you can see, is inferiority Here I am, my head in a cloud Canæ?° you see my feet dangling, down there on the ground? I guess Iæ? | fool, cause I thought I could recognize The people who cared for me, I thought I could draw the line That surrounded my friends Oh I, Iæ? | not going to give up And I don't mind the quitters, so much as the thieves Itæ? tolerable company, given the means I won't waste my time crying If Iæ? | the last to understand The difference between us, be it preference or circumstance Iæ? | losing the faith that youth hold in longevity I guess thatæ? the price for bartering naivety Preferring the comfort that the skeptic takes in disbelief Iæ? | not going to give up
