Creep Show

Everyday
When I wake up
I feel nothing but drip inside my little head
It's because I gots me a tender makeup island
And the chicks are comin' home to roost

If I may be frank
I think not
You are the rock
You are the problem
I'm gonna solve you, baby
We have given you
Our undivided attention
But you've used all your extensions
So it's time for physical and spiritual detention

I know
What you're doin'
There is no mystery
It's all there in your history
Somethin' needs cutting all from you
Like for example your head
Or all of society

Endangered species
You're going to find out
You are the endangered species
You're going to find out

You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You're going to find out

You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You're going to find out

You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You're going to find out

You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You're going to find out

You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You're going to find out

You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species
You are the endangered species

You're going to find out
